As part of its mission, The River Systems Institute strives to build partnerships with a variety of organizations to carry out projects and provide programs such as Charting the Course. RSI is seeking co-sponsors to assist with conference costs. Contributions not only acknowledge the importance of the conference, but also allow us to offer a more comprehensive program to attendees while keeping registration fees reasonably affordable.

Various levels of co-sponsorship opportunities are available and may be in the form of monetary contribution, in-kind services, or payment of specific costs. Levels of contribution and corresponding returns are as follows:

<th>Level $</th>
